PROF. SCHUFELDT TELLS MEMBERS OF GARDEN SOCIETY TO RAISE OWN FOOD

The regular monthly meeting of the Glendale Garden Society was held Thursday evening, Dec. 2, at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Forty members and friends gathered at 7:30 to enjoy a social half hour. The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by the president, Mrs. Nanno Woods, who greeted those present in a few well chosen words.

A board of directors was then nominated from the floor and approved by unanimous vote. The following were nominated: Mrs. Ella Richardson, Mr. Morris Caruthers, Mrs. Frank Hester, Mr. Peter Oliver, Mr. M. Hartmann. These directors, together with the officers of the society, now form the executive board.

Mr. M. Hartmann favored the society with a very fine paper on flower shows. Prolonged applause followed the close of this able, entertaining and instructive address. A discussion was then held as to the advisability of holding a flower show next spring. It being decided to hold such a show, a committee of fifteen was appointed to consider and transact all necessary arrangements relating to the same. The following members were appointed to serve on this committee: Mrs. Ella Richardson, Professor Houdyshel, Mr. Freeman Kelley, Mr. Morris Caruthers, Mrs. Frank Hester, Mrs. Walter Ross, Mr. Ernest Owen, Mr. Peter Oliver, Mr. M. Hartmann, Mr. A. Hommel, Mr. J. H. Gervais, Miss White, Mr. J. Beldin, Mrs. Cora Taylor, Mrs. J. R. Leadsworth.

Professor L. C. Schufeldt was then introduced by the chair as the leader in horticulture and agriculture of 30,000 school children in Los Angeles. The professor delivered an intensely interesting address upon gardens. He first expressed his appreciation at coming before such a large and earnest body of garden lovers and voiced his pleasure at the dignified atmosphere surrounding the proceedings. Mr. Hartmann's paper impressed him greatly. Mr. Schufeldt said that a garden ought to be a place to live in, not merely a place to soil one's hands by grubbing in the dirt; the work was indeed necessary, but the heart and soul should find a joy in the work. Beautiful characters were developed by those who studied the wonderful unfolding of seed and plant, bud and blossom. Schools should be leading factors in gardening education. Such education results in development of brain, cultivation of character, raising of ideals. The lecturer told of one school teacher near the Arroyo Seco who enthused her pupils into planting six vacant lots in potatoes and four in squashes. That very day he had assisted in the organization of a school gardening club in Los Angeles called The Better Living club. Clergymen, teachers and parents were present to promise their moral, social and practical assistance. The various clergy will preach it from their pulpits; teachers will help the children to learn and understand; parents will encourage and foster the movement. Other schools have organized gardening bees. After school hours they go in a body to some back or front yard where cultivation of the soil is neglected, perhaps to a poor home where the occcupants have neither energy nor will to undertake the initial steps; perhaps to a home of one of the school children whose parents are willing their young people should start gardens of their own. The happy group of gardening bees dig and hoe and rake and plant and water; their voices ring out merrily as they work; their laughter fills the air. Their occupation is healthful, their thoughts are wholesome, they are enriching their own lives and the lives of others; who shall say they do not come close to the divine?

To interest grownups one must work through the children. Adults think that things grow in the moon; it would take a thousand years to eradicate the ideas of some people. But begin with the boys and girls, and soon the fathers will begin to cooperate with the sons; at least they begin to chum with their children. Get your own food from your own soil; don't buy it from Chinamen. The great economic problem of America would be solved if every family lived surrounded by their own food factory. Very much can be done with a lot 50 by 150. The professor advised Glendale folks to study the combination of utility and beauty.

Indeed it is impossible to give but a very short synopsis of the illuminating address delivered by Professor Schufeldt. Those who were not at the meeting missed a rare treat. Those present look forward with delight to some future date when Professor Schufeldt will deliver a public stereopticon talk on kindred lines.

After a few appreciative remarks by Professor Richardson White, the meeting was adjourned. The next meeting will be held the first Thursday in January, when a very novel and interesting program will be presented. Visitors are welcome at all times at headquarters, 1111 West Broadway, next the Pacific Electric depot.

FROM VARIOUS STATES

MORE RESIDENTS IN GLENDALE WHO SENT IN NAMES ON THE STATE REGISTRATION

Much interest was created by the Glendale Evening News' registration of families and individuals from the different states. The registration brought out much interesting information. However, after the chronicling of the Middle West and the larger eastern states, the names began to come in so slowly and in such diminished numbers that it became manifest that the registration had exhausted its supply.

There remain of course many sources of information of a similar kind. Canada has not been touched and the British isles have not been heard from. If it should be indicated that those quarters or, in short, any other state or county would like a registration day the News would be glad to publish the names.

It has been thought well at this time to publish these various names that have come in from time to time in a scattering way so that the information thus graciously given may not be lost to the public. Here they are:

It will be remembered that a very large list of names from Ohio was published, but the following have come in since:

NEW LIBRARY PLANS

ACCESS TO STATE LIBRARY—CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS IN THE WAY OF GIFT BOOKS

Christmas season is already exercising its influence in the public library. Mrs. Danford reports that a great many people are already consulting with her as to the kind of book suitable for Christmas gifts. This is a service that comes within the scope of the librarian's work and she is endeavoring to aid such parties to the best of her ability.

Naturally there is a demand for books of every different kind. Every class of reader must be satisfied. The ideal Christmas gift for boys and girls in the way of a book would naturally be a book of information, connected if possible with some favorite line of study. Many excellent books of this kind are being published every day and specially for the Christmas season.

"In order to aid those who do not have access to this information," said Mrs. Danford, "I have made out a list of books suitable for Christmas gifts. I have also made out a list of new fiction suitable for gifts and a list of 50-cent fiction for the same purpose. The demand for this kind of assistance from the library is increasing.

"I would like it to be made known to the public," the librarian continued, "that members of the Glendale library have the privilege of access to the state library at Sacramento. The state library has a vast collection of valuable reference books on technical subjects and an equally valuable collection of statistical works and statistics of the United States and of the different states and especially of California. Books of this kind can be obtained from the Sacramento library through this library.

"I have compiled a list of Chistmas books for teachers. This list shows the recent additions to the library. The lists of new books are published regularly in the Glendale Evening News. I and the members of the library appreciate this courtesy and I have got into the habit of telling members to look for the lists in the News and they, too, find this a great help.

"Interest in the library and its work is increasing daily. Many who never got the full use of the library because they relied solely on their own knowledge are now finding it an aid to consult the librarian and her assistants who stand ready to help anyone who may desire this assistancce. A bulletin of new books wi'l be published in the Glendale Evening News about Jan. 1."

ANNEXATIONISTS DEFEATED

The great election is over and Eagle Rock City is still on the map. Small as this city is, this election was not only a big local event, but it was watched with great interest by many other cities similarly situated near Los Angeles.

Voters were standing in line nearly all day from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. and in the afternoon at times it looked like a big bargain sale day was being conducted in the city hall. Each side had a score or more of automobiles and double that number of workers at the polls. A large number of voters were taken to the polls, but it was a beautiful, warm, sunshiny day and a great many preferred to walk.

The opponents of annexation had a complete organization with headquarters at the schoolhouse. As fast as a ballot was cast the voter was checked off and an estimate made on the standing of the total at that time. By their plan it was known who had voted and who had not. When the polls closed at 7 p. m. the men in charge figured out their estimate on the probable result. They missed it by only 20 votes.

There was a large crowd present to watch the count of the ballots. The first ten showed 7 for and 3 against annexation. But after that there was little doubt of the result and at 8:40 the last ballot showed the following result:

For annexation to Los Angeles, 299; against annexation, 393.

The vote cast was the largest ever recorded at a regular election. The registration books showed over 1000, but many changes have taken place and at the close of the polls there were less than 200 votes not cast. There were 702 votes cast Saturday. —Eagle Rock Sentinel.

Mr. R. O. Soderberg, 1534 W. 5th street, was stricken with paralysis the other day. He is seriously ill. Mr. Soderberg is a man well advanced in years and this is his second attack of paralysis.

J. B. MOODE, OF BASKET GROCERY, 415 S. BRAND, SAYS THIS IS RICH CENTER

That Glendale is a rich business center is the belief of Mr. J. E. Moode, who along with Mr. J. B. Payne has taken over Paul's Basket Grocery from W. W. Sawyer, the former proprietor. Messrs. Payne and Moode have been in the grocery business for many years in Los Angeles and have made good wherever they have been. In Los Angeles their store was on S. Vermont street.

"We have taken over this store," said Mr. Moode to a representative of the Glendale Evening News, "because we have had every proof that Glendale is a rich and live center. One has only to look at the shrewd business firms that have located here to know that this is the case. Wherever you see certain firms locate you may be sure that business is going to grow there. There is a class of firm that has had experience in small centers and understands them and their ways. There is a class of firm that is always looking ahead for new centers. When such firms locate in any place you may be sure that is a good business center.

"We made a study of conditions in Glendale before deciding to locate here. The growing business of Glendale is big enough for all the stores to get a share. Two or three stores could not attend to it all.

"Just at present we are overhauling our stock and will replace much of it with new fresh stock and will make many additions. It will take some little time for us to develop the business we desire We will however push along with our contemplated changes and expect to have our business sized up within a very short time. When our preparations have been made this will be a first-class store.

"Glendale is an excellent field. We have never seen a better; but in truth every field is good if one only will see the possibilities in it. You will often hear business men finding fault with their location. We never find fault with any location. Our situation here is favorable to business. The store is known. The people of Glendale are a class far above the average and we are anticipating much pleasure and profit in serving them."

CHARITY BALL BRILLIANT AFFAIR

The ball room of the Masonic hall was on last evening a blaze of light and animation until the wee hours of the morning for the Knights Templar gave their first charity ball in interest of sweet charity.

The commandery in full dress uniform, numbering forty members, received the guests and at 8:45 the Glendale band struck the first strains of the grand march, led by Mr. and Mrs. Clem Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Peckham.

This was a "charity" ball and everything was donated. The Masonic order opening their home, the band in its entirety producing excellent music and were more than liberal with each number; the firms of Woolsey and Kelley and McElroy transformed the hall into a veritable flower garden; Munson's Drug company and Roberts & Echols donated the refreshments served during the entire evening; window display card work of Frank Booth; tickets donated and printed by the Glendale Press, the Glendale News giving liberal publicity of the event.

Prizes were given and won as follows: E. F. Parker Furniture company, a beautiful bronze vase, which went to Ed. Lynch; evening slippers from Crofton's Shoe shop, won by Fred Deal; one quart best olive oil by Chaffee fell to Mrs. Charles Grist's lot; 3 lb. can Newmark's Best, to E. M. Hitchcock, and donated by Johnson and Lyons; Glendale Pharmacy's "Lowney's" bonbons went to Miss Harriett Wells; gallon lubricating oil from Ford agency went to H. P. Coker; Men's Shop box of silk hose won by W. S. Rattray and auctioneered off to J. Hartley Taylor, highest bidder. F. E. Raymond won a gallon of lubricating oil given by Union Oil Co.; E. H. Bentley and R. H. Kimball received donations of the Coffee King; Schillings' dainty coat hanger was claimed by McElroy; the quart of milk for one month given by the McMullin dairy went to Shevis Mitchell, who in turn presented it to Geo. A. Mitchell, married; Cornwell and Kelty's gas heater was won by F. D. Gonzales.

A large sum was realized and the Knights' Santa Claus will be able to make happy many homes on Christmas, which otherwise would know nothing of holiday cheer.

PROPORTIONAL CIVIC REPRESENTATION

What may be termed an experiment in civic government has been put into motion by the city of Ashtabula, Ohio, where government by proportional representation is now in actual use. This idea of representing minorities is no new thing. It has been in use in different places at different times; but it is very doubtful if it has ever given satisfaction.

There is without doubt considerable justice in the contention that the minorities in any constituency have a right to representation. At the same time it is not by any means likely that the proportional representation system of Ashtabula will solve the difficulties of cities any more than the initiative, referendum and recall have done. It is also likely that there will creep in abuses of the system that will demand reformation, just as the initiative, referendum and recall have given rise to abuses that demand safeguards and limitations that were not dreamed of when those features of modern government were introduced.

This system of proportional representation gives one representative in the city council to every faction of voters totaling more than one-eighth of the votes cast. Ashtabula only adopted this system on Nov. 2. The advocates of the system, naturally, state that it is the only one that is truly representative of all classes of the citizens. They are also confident that it will ultimately be adopted by all. Both these ideas may be doubted.

It would be well for all cities to wait and see the working of this plan in practical everyday civic life. There have been panaceas ere now that have been warranted as cures for all civic evils but the majority of them have been relegated to the scrap heap. When Ashtabula has had its present scheme in actual practice for some years and can show a record of good accomplished by its means it will be time enough for other cities to follow its example.

In Ashtabula there were fourteen candidates for seven places, each nominated by a 2 per cent voters' petition on non-partisan ballots. Each candidate's faction was stated after his name. Each voter put the figure after his first choice. His vote counted for but one candidate but he could make as many secondary choices as there were names. The councilmen were chosen at large.

Election to office was determined by dividing the total vote by 8, giving, in Ashtabula, a quotient of 372, on the basis of 2972 valid votes. Any candidate with 372 first choice votes was elected. If he had more than 372 they were given to the next highest man not elected. Low candidates were dropped and their votes added to the next highest choice on the ballot. When the ballots were counted the business faction had 3; the Irish, Swede and Italian, one each; and the Socialist, the only party mentioned, one.

In such a system as this it is easy to perceive the seeds of much disputation and also an unlimited field for the exercise of some of those clever manipulations of votes that go to show that there is no system invented that man's ingenuity cannot "beat." The politicians of the country have long ago demonstrated their ability to "beat" any kind of voting device, or system.

REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS

Nothing should be of more importance to individuals than registration of births. That anyone should not be anxious to register the birth of a child indicates either that the party is of very indifferent disposition or has been guilty of some moral negligence. To those who argue for the white man a higher morality than that of the Japanese it may be interesting to know that the Japanese in California manifest a greater observation of the practice of registering birth than the white people. During 1914, in proportion to population, 3 Japanese births were registered for every one white birth. The Japanese are thus particular because they are anxious to have no obstacle to establishing their legal status as American citizens.

Not more than 90 per cent of the white births in California are registered in accordance with the law. Many of the births attended by midwives are not reported; yet even that is but a small proportion of the births and the physicians attending the cases must be charged with neglecting to register most of the missing 10 per cent.

When it is remembered how often the distribution of large fortunes has depended on the existence of a birth certificate, it must be wondered at that people are not more careful in this respect. As a matter of fact foreign-born parents are much more careful in this respect than American parents. It should be remembered that the registration of a child's birth is its first birthright.

Under the new registration law a birth certificate must be filed within 36 hours after the birth of a child. The health officer in cities having a freeholders' charter is the local registrar, with whom such birth certificates should be filed. The city clerk is the proper official for registration in other cities and incorporated towns and the county recorder is the registrar for the remainder of the county.

During the year 1914 there were 35,513 children born of white parents in California, while 2874 Japanese children were born in the state during the same year, according to the records of the California State Board of Health. This shows at once how careful the Japanese has been to be ready to assert his rights as a citizen of the United States. The right to be called a citizen of the United States is a very great asset. It means to be free born and those who neglect the means of obtaining this right are undeserving of it.

IMPROVEMENT IN RAILROAD SITUATION

Extraordinary improvement is manifested in the railroad situation. Increases in gross and net earnings have been marked, in some cases being above the highest point ever recorded. As recently as June 1, 1915, there were 300,000 idle cars, with a corresponding surplus of idle locomotives. Now there are no idle cars or idle locomotives in the country, and the railroads are buying new equipment.

During the months of September and October the railroads placed orders for 683,000 tons of rails, 260 locomotives, 18,000 freight cars, 60 passenger cars, besides lumber and fabricated steel and iron, valued at $48,000,000. Since that time other large orders for railway equipment have been placed, showing that the railroads have entered on another great period of prosperity.

CONGREGATIONAL BAZAAR

One of the most successful bazaars ever held in connection with the Congregational church was brought to a successful conclusion Thursday night. The church was filled all afternoon and at evening by a good natured and liberal crowd, who enjoyed the many good features of the entertainment It was regretted by the popular quartet of the church that it was unable to attend, but one of its members, Mr. Blake Franklin, did what he could to supply their places by singing several solos. Mrs. W. D. McRae also sang both afternoon and evening and Mrs. E. H. Willisford was a host in herself. The sale from a financial point of view was a success. The total sum has not been computed, but it may be noted that the cafeteria alone netted the sum of $53.50.

LITTLELANDS AND SUNLANDS

Homecroft Round Table

In his talk last Friday evening Mr. Maxwell spoke of dividing the time of the homecroft meeting into two special parts. From 7:30 to 8 o'clock to be given over to what has been termed an inspirational meeting and from 8 to 9 o'clock to be devoted to the round table talk.

Topic for the evening was: Best kind and number of trees for home use. It was stated that deciduous trees are better suited for this particular spot than citrus. Apples especially do better here than in a lower altitude. Mr. Adams stated that he had planted 85 trees on his acre. Besides he has his garden and a place for poultry and he keeps a goat. He stated that he could make a living off an acre. For family use it was estimated that twelve trees would give a family an average of ten pounds of fruit per day for the year after they come into full bearing. One hundred eight trees can be planted to the acre 20 feet apart. Intercropping orchards are all right for a year or two, but after trees are three years old such planting is unwise.

If one wishes to plant just for home use he may graft different varieties on the same tree very successfully. Rev. Mr. Birchley stated that he had been making a study of homecrofting this week and that he was much impressed with its importance. He read a very interesting article on Switzerland which is the best equipped of any nation of its size to defend itself. The men of Switzerland are soldiers from the time they are twenty till they are forty-eight years old. But the system practiced does not make the military service burdensome to any. They are practical gardeners. They have fine schools and are otherwise well equipped to take care of themselves.

Mr. Maxwell thinks that homecrofting is the practical way out for this country in solving economic questions. That this community is pioneering in a new structural movement, that there is a higher intellectual ideal here than in any other section of Southern California.

Don't live in yesterday. The eternity we are waiting and waiting for is right now. California, Washington and Oregon may be the center of a great world empire. It depends on the way the people are able to care for themselves and defend themselves.

Mr. Ward stated that the store had expended $61 in nine days for vegetables. Mr. Maxwell stated that it was an economic waste to buy products that could be raised here. He thinks that we may raise all the store needs right here. Mrs. Hoffman stated that she had not spent one dollar in a year for potatoes or any other vegetable. It takes perspiration as well as inspiration to raise a successful garden or to make a success of anything else.

Mr. Shiras had on exhibition a Hubbard squash weighing 19 pounds which was raised in his garden. The demonstration of grafting and budding was postponed till the next homecroft meeting.

There is a called meeting of the Bee club by the chairman, Mr. Dean, for Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock when it is expected that a member of the Bee Keepers association will be present and give a talk on the bee industry Those interested are cordially invited to be present.

Miss Cochran, a missionary from Japan who has been enjoying a furlough for the past year, was a visitor to Littlelands last week. She goes in about a fortnight back to her work in the southern part of the Japan islands.

Two teams will compete on each side. One of these will be a 140-pound team and the other an unlimited. Glendale's teams are considered among the fastest in Southern California. The team will play another game in Orange next Thursday. Following is the lineup of the Glendale unlimited: Snively, Mitchell and Bidwell, forwards; Taylor, guard; Farner, Stone and Dewar, guards.

SLIGHT EARTHQUAKE SHOCK

Glendale experienced a slight earthquake shock Thursday night. The seismic wave struck the city in the northeast and the undulations were felt along a clearly defined area running toward the southwest. The shock was slight but in some houses it rattled loose articles of furniture and in one case rocked a cradle. The shock started about 6.30 and was noticed in many sections of the city.

QUILTING BEE

On Monday afternoon, December 6, the Foothill club will meet at the home of Mrs. Wm. S. Porter at 2:30 o'clock.

A "quilting bee" will fill the afternoon hours and during Christmas week these snug articles will be given to the needful.

MRS. KINNEY PRESENTS ARTIST

Signor Florencio Constantino, beloved for his beautiful character as well as his golden voice, was the honored guest at a brilliant reception given on Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. W. Kinney at 1223 West Seventh street. Rose tones offset by ferns and foliage predominated in the artistically arranged decorations of the five rooms thrown open for the occasion.

Baby Van Etten received Constantino at the door upon his arrival, presenting the artist with a basket of pink Cecil Bruner roses and ferns, which pleased him greatly.

Unbonneted ladies receiving with Mrs. Kinney were Mesdames F. S. Balthis, J. W. Usilton, Dan Campbell, William Herman West, Catherine Clotworthy, Freeman McG. Kelley and Mrs. Jennie Newcomb. During the afternoon "tea" hour Mrs. West presided at the urn.

Special guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Albert Crutcher, president of the Children's Hospital; Mrs. Wm. Baurhyte, in charge of finances of the Maternity Cottage, and Mrs. John Hunchberger, chairman of local charities, each being presented with a check of a goodly sum by Signor Constantino as the harvest reaped from the recent benefit concert given under the auspices of the music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club of which Mrs. Kinney is music curator and at which time this great artist sang to aid little children.

During the receiving hours about 200 guests were received and presented to the honored guest and special guests of the afternoon.

ESCAPED FROM STATE FARM

Pete Petersen, 415 E. Second St., who has been confined for some time at the County farm, which lies between Los Angeles and Long Beach, evaded the officials the other day and wandered away. Petersen is weak minded. His beclouded intellect retained apparently sufficient remembrance of his own home to direct him thither. Arriving there last night he acted in so annoying a manner that the police were telephoned for. Patrolmen Hollenbeck and Lambert answered the call. They found Petersen somewhat violent and his wife in a state of alarm. The officers locked up Petersen for the night and telephoned the sheriff's office. This morning the sheriff's men took Petersen back to the county farm.

ADVENTISTS MAKE CHANGES

Appropriations aggregating $8500 and numerous changes in workers have just been made by the Pacific Union Conference committee of the Seventh-Day Adventists at its closing session at Loma Linda, Cal. The newly created Inter-Mountain conference, comprising Utah, Western Colorado and the northwestern corner of New Mexico, receives $3500 for prosecuting its missionary work during 1916. The Arizona conference receives $2000 and the Nevada field $3000.

Dr. T. J. Evans, medical superintendent of the Union Sanitarium, has been appointed medical secretary of the union field, including California, Nevada, Arizona, Utah, Western Colorado and Northwestern New Mexico. Elder C. L. Taggart of Reno, Nev., was re-elected superintendent of the Seventh-day Adventist work in that state. Claude Conard of Oakland, Cal., was elected secretary and treasurer. The conference committee appointed was as follows: C. L. Taggart of Reno, A. W. Russell of Fallon, W. H. Brad'ey of Lone Pine, Cal.; C. W. Pierce of Reno, and H. A. Hartman of Standish.

Elder William Johnson of Green River, Utah, who has, until recently, made his home at Ogden, will come to Northern California to labor. Elder M. A. Hollister of San Rafael, Cal., who formerly was young people's secretary in the California conference, with headquarters at Oakland, Cal., will go to the Intermountain Conference work as an evangelist.

W. S. Holbrook, formerly of Reno, Nev., will work hereafter in the California conference. He now is assisting Elder G. W. Reaser in soliciting for the $150,000 educational fund, on which $143,000 has been secured. It is expected to raise the entire amount by December 31, this year.

Hundreds of students now attending the Pacific Union college at St. Helena, Cal., the Lodi academy at Lodi, Cal., and the San Fernando academy, three educational institutions of the Adventists, will campaign the state of California early in March next year with a book called "Christ's Object Lessons," to raise further funds for the benefit of these schools. The entire proceeds from the sale of this book, including the author's royalty, the publishers' profits and the canvassers' commission have been donated to educational institutions. The students expect to obtain a large amount of money by this campaign, with which to assist in the better equipment of these institutions.

FELL BY THE WAYSIDE

If David Duncan, a wanderer from Glasgow, Scotland, and Jim Mangan, a former unit of Dublin's fair city, had any idea that life in the United States would be easier than in the trenches they set about the wrong way to find that life. Thursday evening the pawky Scot and the exi'e from Erin were found occupying a ditch in the neighborhood of the winery on San Fernando road. They had apparently underestimated the potency of the juice of the grape and had imbibed, in their enthusiasm over having escaped to a land where war has not penetrated, a couple of bottles apiece of the enemy that steals away men's brains. Fortunately the trench in which they lay was "dry." The police found the unwarlike couple in such a state of mental paralysis that even morning had not restored their lost faculties. Arraigned before Judge Whomes they were prompt'y fined $5 each and warned to keep away from wineries.

Oh, say, our new cut glass is here
As well as other Christmas cheer.
Hand-painted china is not so dear,
Toys galore they do appear.
Candy to take the place of beer.
All this to you may sound queer,
But for this store you'd better steer,
The price is right you need not fear.
We've a million articles in the store,
One thousand and 8 is on the door
It is still run by F. O. Moore;
Auto service as before.
Still the fare 5 cents or more,
Never enough to make you sore.

Thank your lucky stars

if you feel that way about it when you get good service from your tires, but there is a deeper and more understandable reason.

The tire that you and every other motorist undoubtedly want most is not the result of hit or miss efforts.

Some great factory has gone to the limit in giving you the best that human ingenuity can produce, and stakes its reputation on the result.

That's how Diamond Tires are built and the great factory behind them is the largest rubber factory in the world.

The horse-shoe was all right to nail over the barn-door, but for the garage four Diamond Tires on the wheels of your car constitute the best omen of good luck we know anything about.

TROPICO

Mrs. Edward Henry Weston entertained the Park Avenue Parent-Teacher association at her home on West Park this afternoon. Mrs. M. Ludlum and Mrs. R. Griswold furnished a delightful musical program. Miss Delphin Hill, principal of the school, gave a most interesting talk on the subjects that are vital to the welfare of the pupil, teacher and parent, and urged a closer relation and co-operation between teacher and parent.

The rooms of the Weston home were artistically decorated in red and green, suggestive of the Merry Christmastide and its attendant pleasures and happiness.

Another lively game of ball, the great American sport, will be played on the municipal playgrounds Saturday afternoon, December 4, when the Saturday Afternoon team will cross bats with the Los Angeles City Hall team.

All loyal citizens of Tropico who possibly can will be present and root for the local team; win we must and every effort will be put forth by our boys to win.

A fine new piano has been placed in the Magnolia school bui'ding and will be used in connection with the p'ayground. The school building is now well equipped to be used as a civic center for that portion of Tropico and neighborhood dancing parties can be given in the school, for which so many residents have been anticipating.
